Dear Faculty, Staff, Residents and Students,

The ongoing anti-Asian violence occurring in the country is reprehensible. We offer our thoughts and prayers to the victims’ families. For students, faculty, and staff of Asian and Pacific Islander identities, SOM stands in solidarity with you. We are paying attention to national events, we care, we listen, and we remain diligent to keep our community safe.

Please continue to look out for one another and report concerns to the Rowan University Police Dept. at 856-256-4911 (emergency) or 856-256-4922 (non-emergency). If feeling unsafe, any student, employee, or visitor can request a walking escort service with them.

Incidents of discrimination or harassment can be brought to Yvonne Ortiz, Dean Kathryn Lambert, or Dean Micciche to discuss, however, all incidents must be reported on Rowan University’s Division of DEI website at this link. The reporting area is designated by a red button at the bottom.

Led by IDEA Council, a Safe Space Peer-to-Peer Support Session will be held this weekend.

For people who want to be allies, below are resources to educate yourself and aid in understanding the history of anti-Asian racism, Asian anti-racism, and advocacy.

- History of Anti-Asian Racism and Asian Anti-Racism
- The Long History of Racism Against Asians in the U.S.
- Stop Asian American and Pacific Islander Hate
- White House Memorandum Condemning and Combating Racism, Xenophobia, and Intolerance Against Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders in the United States
- Hate Crimes Against Asian Americans Are Nothing New article
- Asian American Legal Defense and Education Fund

Racial battle fatigue can impact how we care for ourselves and perform. Below are resources to exercise self-care.

- Employees: Counseling Assistance Program 609-292-8543
- Students: Student Mental Health Services are offered through the Department of Psychiatry at 856-482-9000 or Student Wellness at 856-770-5750
- Health & Wellness Resources for Student Doctors
- Seeking Mental Health Services as a Medical Student
- SOM Wellness Website
- How to Help Medical Students Keep Tabs on Their Mental Health
- 15 Steps to Navigate Crises and Physician Well-being
- Asian American/Pacific Islander Communities and Mental Health
- Therapy for Black Girls
- Supporting Black Men’s Mental Health
- Therapy for Latinx
- The Association of LGBTQ+ Psychiatrists
- The National Center for Transgender Equality
- Institute for Muslim Mental Health
- Stress and Trauma Toolkit for Treating Jewish Americans in a Changing Social and Political Environment

Stay safe and remain encouraged.

Thomas A. Cavalieri, DO, MACOI, FACP
Dean, Rowan University School of Osteopathic Medicine

Yvonne Ortiz
Director of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion
Dear Faculty, Staff, Residents and Students,

Yesterday’s tragic actions at the Capitol in Washington, D.C. was an unthinkable attack against our nation, and the fabric of our democracy. It violates the very values we hold in our country and as a profession. Unfortunately, violence has become too common in our society. I am reminded of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. as a proponent of non-violence: “Nonviolence is a powerful and just weapon, which cuts without wounding and ennobles the man who wields it. It is a sword that heals.”

I remain hopeful of the work ahead to create a more equitable and just nation. Hope from this moment, however, can only be nurtured based upon our own reflection, growth, and courage to act. It is speaking our truths, willingness to make mistakes and learn from it, and courage to act in the spirit of justice that fulfills SOM’s on-going commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI). I invite you to take advantage of the opportunities for professional learning through SOM’s Office of DEI.

As we continue the important work of preparing future physicians and scientists, caring for patients, and fighting a pandemic, remember our students, peers, and colleagues, particularly people from marginalized identities, may not be okay. Colleagues may or may not want to talk. Be willing to listen.

If you are feeling overwhelmed and need someone to talk to, below is the contact information for additional resources:

Student and Employee Counseling Programs:

Employees:
Counseling Assistance Program
609-292-8543

Students:
Student Mental Health Services are offered through the Department of Psychiatry
856-482-9000

The Student Wellness Program
www.rowan.edu/som/education/studentaffairs/wellness.html
856-770-5750

We can make a difference by adhering to our values always aimed at improving the human condition, being a proponent of human life, and living our values.

Best regards,

Thomas A. Cavalieri, DO, MACOI, FACP
Dean, Rowan University School of Osteopathic Medicine
Dear Rowan Faculty, Staff, Residents and Students;

The ongoing, anti-Semitic harassment and violence occurring in the country is reprehensible. We offer our thoughts and prayers to everyone impacted. For students, faculty, residents and staff sharing these identities, SOM stands in solidarity with you. We are mindful of national and global events. We care. We listen and we remain diligent to keep our SOM community safe.

Please continue to look out for one another and report concerns to Campus Safety. Campus Safety can be reached at 856-256-4911 (emergency) or 856-256-4922 (non-emergency). If feeling unsafe, any student, employee, or visitor can request a walking escort service with Campus Safety.

Complaints of discrimination and/or harassment can be brought to Dean Kathryn Lambert, Dean Micciche, or Yvonne Ortiz to discuss. However, all incidents must be reported on Rowan University’s Division of DEI website at this link. The reporting area is designated by a red button at the bottom.

Below are a few educational resources.

- Anti-Semitic attacks are being reported in US cities as tensions flare over the Israeli-Palestinian conflict
- Anti-Defamation League’s Tracker of Anti-Semitic Incidents
- Anti-Semitism: How the history’s oldest hatred still hold sway today
- A Proclamation on Jewish Heritage Month

Racial and ethnic battle fatigue can impact how we care for ourselves and perform. The following are resources to exercise self-care.

- Employees: Counseling Assistance Program 609-292-8543
- Students: Student Mental Health Services are offered through the Department of Psychiatry 856-482-9000 or The Student Wellness Program 856-770-5750
- Access services online at WellConnectForYou.com (School Code: RUSOM) or call 866-640-4777
- Health & Wellness Resources for Student Doctors
- Seeking Mental Health Services as a Medical Student
- SOM Wellness Website
- How to Help Medical Students Keep Tabs on Their Mental Health
- 15 Steps to Navigate Crises and Physician Well-being
- Stress and Trauma Toolkit for Treating Jewish Americans in a Changing Social and Political Environment
- Institute for Muslim Mental Health
- Stress and Trauma Toolkit for Treating Muslims in a Changing Social and Political Environment
- Asian American/Pacific Islander Communities and Mental Health
- Therapy for Black Girls
- Supporting Black Men’s Mental Health
- Therapy for Latinx
- The Association of LGBTQ+ Psychiatrists
- The National Center for Transgender Equality

Stay safe and take good care.

Thomas A. Cavalieri, DO, MACOI, FACP
Dean, Rowan University School of Osteopathic Medicine
Dear Rowan Faculty, Staff, Residents and Students;

In recent months, the increase in anti-Asian racism, xenophobia, and violence is disgraceful. As a SOM family, we lend our support and care to students, faculty, and staff who share Asian American and Pacific Islander identities. In this moment, I am reminded by the words of the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. to honor our shared humanity by showing compassion and advocacy for everyone from marginalized identities. His words challenge us, “In the end, we will remember not the words of our enemies, but the silence of our friends.”

Discrimination, harassment and violence will not be tolerated at SOM. Acts of violence must be reported to Campus Safety. Incidents of discrimination or harassment can be brought to Yvonne Ortiz, Dean Lambert, or Dean Micicche to discuss, however, all incidents must be reported on Rowan’s Division of DEI website at this link.

My thanks to STUCO President Anjani Patel and student leaders for sending out a solidarity statement and Safe Space program information yesterday for students. I am aware our Office of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion also shared information to students on resources, but here is a summary to foster our awareness, allyship, and self-care.

- History of Anti-Asian Racism and Asian Anti-Racism
- The Long History of Racism Against Asians in the U.S.
- Stop Asian American and Pacific Islander Hate
- White House Memorandum Condemning and Combating Racism, Xenophobia, and Intolerance Against Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders in the United States
- Hate Crimes Against Asian Americans Are Nothing New article
- Asian American Legal Defense and Education Fund
- Employees: Counseling Assistance Program 609-292-8543
- Students: Student Mental Health Services are offered through the Department of Psychiatry 856-482-9000 or The Student Wellness Program 856-770-5750

For those celebrating, I wish you a safe, healthy, happy, and prosperous Lunar New Year.

Thomas A. Cavalieri, DO, MACOI, FACP
Dean
Dear Faculty, Staff, Residents and Students,

For the past month, Muslim members of our SOM family have reflected, fasted, built communally, and aided those in need during Ramadan, the holiest period in Islam. Last Thursday, Eid-ul-Fitr marked the end of Ramadan. Eid is a time for celebration and renewed intentions. SOM affirms the faith, commitment, and fortitude of our Muslim family.

Sadly, this is also a turbulent period in our world. Members of our SOM family are impacted by the Israeli-Palestinian fighting and humanitarian crisis with loved ones living in fear, being displaced from their homes, and the numerous deaths of innocent people, many of them children. Our calling as future and current physicians champions the humanity of every individual and the value of human life.

Please be prepared to listen to our impacted SOM family with a humble and open heart. We lift up the ideals of peace, justice, and reconciliation.

Trauma and racial/ethnic battle fatigue can impact how we care for ourselves and perform. Below are resources to exercise self-care.

- Employees: Counseling Assistance Program 609-292-8543
- Students: Student Mental Health Services are offered through the Department of Psychiatry 856-482-9000 or The Student Wellness Program 856-770-5750
- Health & Wellness Resources for Student Doctors
- Seeking Mental Health Services as a Medical Student
- SOM Wellness Website
- How to Help Medical Students Keep Tabs on Their Mental Health
- 15 Steps to Navigate Crises and Physician Well-being
- Institute for Muslim Mental Health
- Stress and Trauma Toolkit for Treating Jewish Americans in a Changing Social and Political Environment
- Asian American/Pacific Islander Communities and Mental Health
- Therapy for Black Girls
- Supporting Black Men’s Mental Health
- Therapy for Latinx
- The Association of LGBTQ+ Psychiatrists
- The National Center for Transgender Equality

Stay safe and remain encouraged during these difficult times.

Thomas A. Cavalieri, DO, MACOI, FACP
Dean, Rowan University School of Osteopathic Medicine
Dear Classmates,

We hope this email finds you and your loved ones safe and well. The pandemic has affected each and every one of us. In particular, the country of India has been hit with a severe wave and spike in new cases in these recent weeks. For those that may not be aware, India’s current 7-day average for NEW cases these past 7 days is over 357,000+. Let us emphasize, this is not total cases being above this number, but daily, NEW cases. Also, the average presented is just the last 7 days, with this rise in cases occurring over several weeks. Social media and news outlets have shown that hospitals are incredibly overwhelmed. Many hospitals have to turn away patients because they do not have enough oxygen for all.

We write this email to share with you this horrible news and to show support for our RowanSOM community, as many of our students are of South Asian ethnicities and may have loved ones in India or other countries that are personally affected by this. We are here for you all. We also write this email to help possibly share some places that you can contribute and try to help.

We completely understand that not everyone may be in the financial position to donate, nor should you feel pressured into donating. However, any contribution you do make, even if it’s something small, will still make a positive impact. You can also contribute by sharing this with family/friends/others that may not be aware of what is going on. You can be there for your fellow classmates that are personally being affected by this terrible pandemic, whether they are South Asian or not. Finally, you can continue to try to do something small every day that prepares you to become a better physician and person.

Here are some places you can donate:

- Oxygen For India GoFundMe

This GoFundMe was put together by Dr.’s Shubha Varma, Jas Katariya, Ruchika Talwar, and Ms. Archana Gollamudi. They are looking to send a minimum of 100 oxygen concentrators to the cities of Delhi, Mumbai, Ahmedabad, Lucknow, Bangalore, and Kolkata. They have raised over $250k and are hoping to reach $300k. You can Venmo directly to @Shubha-varma. You can see the progress that they are making in real time via this Instagram account.

- Mission Oxygen

Ketto, a fund-raising platform in Mumbai which is a hot spot of the country’s latest COVID-19 outbreak, is shepherding a campaign by hundreds of entrepreneurs to purchase 3,000 oxygen concentrators. According to their website, they have placed an order for 3900 concentrators already and are a little over halfway to their fundraising goal. The organizers are tweeting live updates here.
- Milaap - Breathe India

  This organization has placed an order for 185 concentrators and is finalizing an order for another 65. They are saying that it will arrive in the city of Delhi in the next couple weeks (early May). They are posting live updates on their website.

- Sewa International

  AAPI's national board has partnered with Sewa International to fund 200 oxygen concentrators. Sewa seems to be sending other things such as food and medicines to about 10,000 families and more than 1,000 orphanages and senior citizen centers. For more updates, be sure to check their Twitter.

- Hemkunt Foundation

  You can send a Venmo payment to @Arshya-Chopra for a donation. Hemkunt is a non-profit organization that is based on Delhi, India, and I saw this post from a friend who I spoke to. Arshya is their friend and also has family friends that runs this organization. They have already started delivering oxygen concentrators. You can see live updates on their Twitter and learn more about their organization on their website.

- KhalsaAid

  This organization has also been sending supplies and oxygen concentrators to India and share updates on their Instagram. They just posted about sending 200 concentrators recently. Take a look at their page if you are interested in donating!

To learn more, or find other places to donate, here's an article from the New York Times.

Please note, we tried our best to find organizations that are reliable and have been showing via their social media, news outlets, etc., that they are currently using their donations to help in India. We also encourage that you do your own research prior to donating to make sure that you are donating to something that you support.

Thank you to all those who read this email, shared, and/or donated. We hope you and your loved ones continue to stay safe during this pandemic.

Sincerely,

Vinit Parekh, OMS-II
Ekrem Cetinkaya, OMS-I
Jaasrini Vellore, OMS-II
Seema Sakaria, OMS-I
Zoha Shahabuddin, OMS-II
Dear Allies in Medicine for LGBTQ+ and the greater RowanSOM community,

The month of June marks the advent of Pride Month as is celebrated by the LGBTQ+ community every year.

While the fight for LGBTQ+ rights had been ongoing for decades, the movement was very scattered. Tiny pockets of activists were trying and failing to gain any traction for pro-LGBTQ+ legislation and policies. However, a watershed moment in the push for LGBTQ+ rights and liberation occurred on June 28, 1969, at the Stonewall Inn in New York City, and lasted for 6 days.

The NYPD had a history of entering gay bars, some of the only safe spaces for LGBTQ+ people at that time, and actively harassing and abusing queer patrons for their own amusement and without cause. After years of this occurring repeatedly, the patrons of the Stonewall Inn, most notably black trans women, finally fought back in a large-scale violent riot against the NYPD that was widely publicized and gave birth to the modern LGBTQ+ rights movement.

Thus, the month of June is celebrated as Pride Month, in celebration of living an authentic and meaningful life, in memory of the endless battles that have been fought and won to afford the community the rights and privileges it has today, and as a reminder of the work that still needs to be done to ensure all members of the community are recognized, valued, and are afforded those same rights.

As members of the RowanSOM community, we hope you will join us in celebrating Pride, and that you will take time to reflect on what Pride means in your own life and the lives of those around you.

If you would like to read more about the history of the Stonewall riots here is a link to more information:

AIM club events to keep in mind for the upcoming year:
- Meet and greet events with Rowan SOM LGBTQ+ faculty and students in the fall
- September 12th South Jersey Pride Parade- let us know if you want to get involved with organizing!
- Diversity Week LGBTQ+ health care panel in October, final date TBD
- Brave Space Training in November/December

Sincerely,

Allies in Medicine E-board (Jessie Horoschak, Mark Conforti, Madhav Patel, Tara Young, Sam Durham, Tracy Tauro, Lisa Shah, John Johnson)
Dear Faculty, Staff, Students and Residents,

As we begin a new academic year, I want to emphasize the privileges and responsibilities of the medical profession as well as the covenant we make to colleagues and patients to value and respect the humanity of every person. This covenant is exemplified in SOM’s mission and on-going commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. The practice of medicine requires respect, collaboration, mindfulness, humility and leadership.

Over the past year, I have issued several statements to the SOM community regarding various forms of racism, bias, anti-Semitism, anti-Asian, and anti-Muslim harassment and violence in the country. Sadly, anti-Semitic and anti-Asian violence and harassment continues. We offer our thoughts and prayers to everyone impacted. In addition, violence against people of color has become all too frequent. At SOM, we have an opportunity to foster the kind of climate that we desire so everyone can study, learn, work, and thrive.

We can move towards these goals by treating everyone with respect, being a good listener, and educating ourselves. I encourage faculty and staff to continue opportunities for DEI learning, which can be found at this link: Can We Talk: Tips for Respectful Conversations in Schools, Workplaces, and Communities.

We remain diligent to keep our SOM community safe. Please look out for one another and report concerns to Campus Safety (856-256-4911 for emergencies and 856-256-4922 for non-emergencies). If feeling unsafe, any student, employee, or visitor can request a walking escort service with Campus Safety.

Complaints of discrimination and/or harassment should be shared with Dean Kathryn Lambert or Dean Micciche. All incidents must be reported on Rowan University’s Office of Student Equity and Compliance website at this link. The reporting area is designated by a red button at the bottom.

Below are some educational resources. Bias can impact how we care for ourselves and perform.

- Myths and Facts About Muslim People and Islam
- Anti-Semitism Uncovered: A Guide to Old Myths in a New Era
- Anti-Defamation League’s Tracker of Anti-Semitic Incidents
- The mental health impact of anti-Asian racism
- Mental Health and Wellness Resources for People of Color

Stay safe and take good care.

Thomas A. Cavalieri
Dean
Dear Faculty, Staff, Students and Residents,

Over the past few weeks, our humanitarian duty remains painfully clear as we witnessed international and national disasters resulting in the loss of human life and devastating damage to homes, businesses, and infrastructure. We stand together as a community to lift up those that are affected and applaud all of our students and many others that are working to relieve the human suffering caused by these tragic events.

HAITI EARTHQUAKE
The recent earthquake in Haiti resulted in the loss of at least 2,200 people and others are still missing. We stand in support of our Haitian students, colleagues, and their loved ones who have been impacted. Here’s How You Can Help Support Earthquake Relief Efforts in Haiti

AFGHANISTAN REFUGEE CRISIS
While the United States has ended the war in Afghanistan, our longest war in history, millions of Afghan refugees are in crisis. Our covenant as future and current physicians persists to value and respect the humanity of every person through providing culturally competent, skillful, and compassionate care. We stand in solidarity with RowanSOM students who have personally been affected by this crisis.

I am very proud of our students, and commend the military service members, for their efforts in supporting the Afghan refugees who are in the process of being resettled in New Jersey. We are proud that Governor Murphy has appointed one of our alumni, Brigadier General Lisa Hou (SOM ’96), Adjutant General and Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Military and Veterans Affairs, to oversee healthcare for these refugees. We have been in touch with Brigadier General Hou to coordinate our efforts so that we can best meet the needs of this community.

IMPACTS OF IDA
The national devastation due to Hurricane Ida in Louisiana and numerous states along its path, including Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York, is heartbreaking and still being assessed. We lend our prayers and service to our neighbors, students, alumni, and colleagues impacted by Ida.

Student leaders, clubs and organizations, in collaboration with the Office of Student Affairs, are developing ways that the SOM community can help those affected by these tragedies. Look for additional information to follow in your e-mail.
LOOKING AHEAD

Next week, people of the Jewish faith will recognize Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year. It is one of Judaism’s holiest days. Meaning “head of the year” or “first of the year,” Rosh Hashanah commemorates the creation of the world and marks the beginning of the Days of Awe, a 10-day period of introspection and repentance that culminates on the Yom Kippur holiday, also known as the Day of Atonement. Beginning September 15, Yom Kippur is considered the most important holiday in the Jewish faith. Yom Kippur and Rosh Hashanah are known as Judaism’s “High Holy Days.”

Thank you to each of you for all that you do to assist when the moment calls for service and action to support others or each other in times of need. This was never more evident than with the heroic collective effort that we all witnessed from our students to support every facet of the operation of our Rowan Medicine Vaccine Center earlier this year, and we see it again with our students coming together to provide help to those affected by these crises.

Stay safe and take good care,

Thomas A. Cavalieri, DO, MACOI, FACP
Dean

This message has been approved by: Dr. Thomas A. Cavalieri
This message has been sent by: Marketing
Dear Faculty, Staff, Residents, and Students,

October 11 marks the recognition of Indigenous People’s Day and November is Native American History Month, honoring the original inhabitants of North America and celebrating Indigenous heritage, culture, and tribal roots. This is also a time to remember and reflect on the mistreatment of Native Americans during the creation and expansion of the United States. Sadly, the impact of colonization still persists today.

As an osteopathic medical school, we emphasize the American Indian heritage of the body-mind-spirit paradigm in osteopathic principles and practices as this is not widely known and celebrated. Here is an article from the International Journal of Osteopathic Medicine exploring these connections in greater detail. According to the American Association of Colleges of Osteopathic Medicine (AACOM), in 2020, 0.2 percent of osteopathic matriculants were of Native American or American Indian background.

Rowan University has a land acknowledgement that serves to recognize Indigenous People as original stewards of this land and their continuing spiritual connection to the Earth. While statements alone do not heal past injustices, it serves as a demonstration of respect and reflection.

RowanSOM can begin action by learning a more truthful history, reading Indigenous literature as well as advocating and showing solidarity with Indigenous People. Below are articles to foster greater awareness about Indigenous People’s Day, American Indian history, and land acknowledgements.

- Rethinking How We Celebrate American History – Indigenous People's Day
- Native American History Timeline
- American Experience - Native Americans (PBS)
- Native American History
- The Nanticoke Lenni-Lenape Tribe: An American Indian Tribe
- 8 Incredible Inventions of the Indigenous People of the Americas
- How Boarding Schools Tried to “Kill the Indian” Through Assimilation
- A century of trauma at U.S. boarding schools for Native American children
- Trail of Tears
- Honoring Original Indigenous Land Inhabitants – Land Acknowledgements

Stay safe and take good care.

Thomas A. Cavalieri, DO, MACOI, FACP
Dean